

PRICE OF BUBBLES LOWERED

The advertisement reproduced below was taken from a recent issue of the San Francisco Chronicle. A similar advertisement is appearing in the New York papers and inasmuch as the price of champagne for the past two or three months on the local market has been what it was preceding the war abroad, there is no reason for the exorbitant charges being made for it here. There is probably reasonable excuse for such concerns as paid war prices for wine preceding the reduction, but there are very few who have any quantity on hand at the fancy prices and probably none carrying the popular brands except in the vintage wines.

IMPORTED CHAMPAGNE

Back to the Old Price

The undersigned take pleasure in announcing that the wholesale price of all Imported Champagne is now the same as it was before the beginning of the European war.

Safeyt—So Jack is engaged, is he? And is Fanny the bride-to-be? First—No; she is the tried-to-be.—University of Nebraska Awgwan.

Merchant (to applicant for job)—Sorry, but I only employ married men. Applicant—Do you happen to have a daughter, sir?—Boston Transcript.

Owens—My landlord has ordered me out because I cannot pay any rent.

Bowens—Glad I met you. So has mine. Let's change quarters.—Boston Transcript.

"Oh, say, who was here to see you last night?" "Only Myrtle, father." "Well, tell Myrtle that she left her pipe on the piano."—University of Nebraska Awgwan.

"Blinks says that when he was young he was the architect of his own fortune." "Didn't they have any building inspectors in those days?"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"I understand, Cuddyhump, that your wife is convalescent?" said kindly Mrs. White.

"No, ma'am, Ah'm glad to say she ain't. Stid o' dat, she's gittin' bettah ev'ry day."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

WAIKIKI BEACH.

(Honolulu.)

By Cole Young Rice.

Waft me away, O sunny winds,
Or let me live beside it.
Lying upon the lulling sands,
Under the high palm shade,
Watching the great white comber
cream,
And the brown surf-boats that ride
it
And Diamond Head that towers o'er,
In azure skies arrayed.

Waft me at once away! too strong
The spell will be tomorrow;
Stronger than spirit will the sense
Of tropic sweetness sink.
And of the lotos I shall eat
Till far away fades sorrow,
While of the flower-laden light
Thro endless years I drink.

Waft me away, away! O, let
The night and moon not find me,
Or stars that hang like golden dates
High upon heaven's tree.
For if the day can so beguile
How will the dusk not bind me?
Never could other days and night
My yearnings reconcile.

Waft me away, O swift away,
Past reef and bar and harbor.
Deck me not in the scarlet lei,
To drowse me ever more.
Say not again Aloha, but
Farewell, O fairest arbor
That ever the sun and cloud and sea
Reared on a magiv shore.
